

The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

What Is The Complete Finished Word of Christ?

Explaining the meaning and power of Christ's completed work. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

The Fulfillment of Redemption

How the cross brought salvation, reconciliation, and eternal victory.

The Word Made Flesh and Fulfilled

Unveiling how Jesus embodied and completed the Word of God.

The Completeness of Salvation in Christ

Showing how nothing can be added to or taken from His finished work.

Chapter 1: The Mandate of the Father

Before the foundation of the world, before light pierced the darkness, before man drew his first breath—there was a plan. A divine mandate was written in eternity, authored by the Father Himself, and it was given to the Son. This plan was not an afterthought. It was not a reaction to sin. It was the eternal dream of God, a purpose that predates the fall and includes all of creation in its glorious unfolding.

The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

The mission was clear: the Son would come—not merely to save some, but to fulfill the complete intention of the Father. Jesus said, “Lo, I come to do thy will, O God” (Hebrews 10:9). And what was that will? To reconcile all things unto Himself, both in heaven and on earth, through the blood of the cross (Colossians 1:20). The finished work began in the heart of the Father, and the Son was sent to execute it to its absolute, total, and eternal completion.

This is not just about salvation as we’ve often heard it preached—this is about a kingdom, a family, a new creation, and a world where God is truly all in all (1 Corinthians 15:28). This is about the restoration of everything, the reconciliation of all, and the summing up of all things in Christ (Ephesians 1:10). It’s a cosmic mission with personal impact. You and I are part of that plan—not just as receivers, but as co-heirs and co-workers with Christ in the unfolding of this eternal mystery.

When the Father sent the Son, He sent Him with authority. Authority not just over sin, sickness, and death, but over time, space, and destiny. Jesus came with the full backing of heaven to bring the invisible into the visible—to make manifest the dream of the Father in the earth. Every miracle, every word, every drop of blood was fulfilling a divine instruction. Nothing was random. Nothing wasted.

In John 17, Jesus prayed a revealing prayer: "I have finished the work which Thou gavest Me to do." Even before the cross, He knew that every step was ordered. The foundation was being laid. The Word had become flesh. The cornerstone was being set.

And yet—that was only the beginning.

The fullness of Christ's finished work isn't confined to one moment in time. It's a progressive revelation. A continual unfolding. What was finished at Calvary is still being made manifest in the lives of His people, in the overcoming church, and eventually in all creation. The foundation has been laid, but the house is still being built. The harvest is still being gathered. The dream is still being fulfilled.

And the Father's voice echoes from eternity: "Son, complete the mission. Bring My dream into reality. Until I am all in all."

Chapter 2: It Is Finished — But Not Over

From the rugged beams of the cross, a cry pierced the veil of time: The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

"It is finished."

Not a cry of defeat, but a proclamation of divine completion. These were not just the dying words of a man—these were the victorious words of the Lamb who had come to fulfill the eternal will of the Father.

But what exactly was finished? The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

Many stop at Calvary and see only forgiveness. They see the blood and say, "My sins are covered." And indeed, they are. But that's only the foundation. Jesus wasn't merely finishing a phase—He was laying the cornerstone of an entirely new creation. He was setting in motion the fullness of a finished work that would unfold in glory through time and eternity.

The work Jesus finished on the cross was the first phase of a threefold expression:

Foundation Laid – Christ, the Cornerstone.

House Built – The overcoming sons and daughters of God.

All Things Restored – Creation brought back into perfect harmony with the Father.

When Jesus declared, "It is finished," He was proclaiming the completion of His earthly assignment:

He had shown us the Father.

He had fulfilled the Law and the Prophets.

He had walked in perfect obedience.

He had demonstrated the nature of God in human form.

And He had become the spotless Lamb, slain for the sins of the world. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

But the unfolding of that finished work—oh, that was just beginning.

Revelation gives us another moment when a voice from the throne declares, "It is done!" (Revelation 21:6). This time, it is not spoken from the cross but from the throne. It's a royal decree from a reigning King, not a suffering Servant. And what is done? Not just redemption—but restoration. Not just forgiveness—but full transformation. Not just an invitation—but an invasion of the life of God into all creation.

Between "It is finished" and "It is done," there is a divine process.

The foundation was laid at the cross.

The house is built through the Spirit's work in the Church.

The harvest is reaped through the manifest sons of God.

The rest of creation is reconciled in the ages to come.

We are in the middle of a living gospel, not a frozen story from the past. The finished work is a river—it flows. It's not locked in history—it's alive in us. Christ is not only the One who was, but the One who is and is to come.

So many are waiting to die and go to heaven, while heaven is waiting to rise in them. Jesus didn't just die to get us out of hell—He died to bring heaven into us. He didn't just rescue us from sin—He made us partakers of His divine nature, co-heirs of His kingdom, and laborers in His dream.

He said, "It is finished," not to signal an end—but to launch a beginning.

The new creation began that day. And every time you say "yes" to Him, every time you walk in His Spirit, every time you speak with His authority—you are manifesting what was finished at Calvary. You are proof that His mission continues.

From the cross to the throne, from the tomb to the temple, from sin to glory—He is completing what He began. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

And you, beloved, are a vital part of that story.

Chapter 3: He Was Made Sin — That We Might Become Righteous

"He made Him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him."

— 2 Corinthians 5:21

This is the great exchange—the scandal of grace, the glory of redemption. At the cross, Jesus didn't just carry our sin. He became it. He didn't just sympathize with the fallen state of humanity—He stepped into it, fully embracing the curse, the guilt, the shame, the judgment, the condemnation, and the death that belonged to us.

The sinless Son of God became the sin-man, not in character but in identity. He stepped into our fallen Adamic nature, fully owning it, so He could bring it to death in Himself—and raise up a new creation in its place.

The crucifixion was more than nails and blood—it was God's surgery on humanity.

The old man was executed.

The sin nature was condemned.

The handwriting of ordinances that was against us was blotted out.

The devil was disarmed.

Death was swallowed in victory.

Christ was not dying as Himself alone—He was dying as you.
He bore our sin—not as a carrier only, but as the embodiment of our lostness.

And when He went down into the grave, He buried that sin-man. When He rose, He didn't bring him back with Him. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

You didn't get forgiven and still stay in the same identity. You got re-created.

You are no longer the "sinner saved by grace." You are the new man, created in Christ Jesus, righteous and truly holy. Righteousness is not something you earn or grow into—it is something you are made the moment you are placed into Him.

God did not patch up the old you. He replaced you.

He didn't improve the old Adam—He ended him.

When Jesus became sin, He took the entire dominion of death with Him. And when He rose, He raised up a whole new species—a new man, a new creation, a new humanity.

That's why Paul would later write, "If anyone be in Christ, he is a new creation; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (2 Corinthians 5:17).

This isn't poetic exaggeration. It's literal truth.

You are the righteousness of God in Christ. Not just righteous like God—righteous with His own righteousness. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

That's not pride. That's position.

That's not boasting. That's believing.

Jesus was made to be what He was not, so that you could be made what you were not.

And the more you see this truth—the more you will live from it.

We don't live holy to become righteous—we live holy because we are.

We don't struggle to earn God's approval—we rest because we already have it.

We don't beg for victory—we walk in it because the Victor lives in us.

When you believe the work is finished, you stop trying to finish it in your own strength.

And the fruit of righteousness begins to manifest—not because you're striving, but because you're abiding.

This is the beauty of grace:

He took what was ours (sin, death, guilt),

So we could take what was His (righteousness, life, peace). The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

Now, in the Spirit, we don't live from earth toward heaven. We live from heaven into the earth.

You are not trying to get to God—you are living from union with Him.

This is the divine exchange, fully finished at the cross, now unfolding through your life by the Spirit. Jesus became sin... so that you could become like Him.

Chapter 3: He Was Made Sin — That We Might Become Righteous

"He made Him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him."

— 2 Corinthians 5:21

This is the great exchange—the scandal of grace, the glory of redemption. At the cross, Jesus didn't just carry our sin. He became it. He didn't just sympathize with the fallen state of humanity—He stepped into it, fully embracing the curse, the guilt, the shame, the judgment, the condemnation, and the death that belonged to us.

The sinless Son of God became the sin-man, not in character but in identity. He stepped into our fallen Adamic nature, fully owning it, so He could bring it to death in Himself—and raise up a new creation in its place.

The crucifixion was more than nails and blood—it was God's surgery on humanity.

The old man was executed.

The sin nature was condemned.

The handwriting of ordinances that was against us was blotted out.

The devil was disarmed.

Death was swallowed in victory.

Christ was not dying as Himself alone—He was dying as you.

He bore our sin—not as a carrier only, but as the embodiment of our lostness.

And when He went down into the grave, He buried that sin-man. When He rose, He didn't bring him back with Him.

You didn't get forgiven and still stay in the same identity. You got re-created.

You are no longer the "sinner saved by grace." You are the new man, created in Christ Jesus, righteous and truly holy. Righteousness is not something you earn or grow into—it is something you are made the moment you are placed into Him.

God did not patch up the old you. He replaced you.

He didn't improve the old Adam—He ended him.

When Jesus became sin, He took the entire dominion of death with Him. And when He rose, He raised up a whole new species—a new man, a new creation, a new humanity.

That's why Paul would later write, "If anyone be in Christ, he is a new creation; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (2 Corinthians 5:17).

This isn't poetic exaggeration. It's literal truth.

You are the righteousness of God in Christ. Not just righteous like God—righteous with His own righteousness. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

That's not pride. That's position.

That's not boasting. That's believing.

Jesus was made to be what He was not, so that you could be made what you were not.

And the more you see this truth—the more you will live from it.

We don't live holy to become righteous—we live holy because we are.
We don't struggle to earn God's approval—we rest because we already have it.
We don't beg for victory—we walk in it because the Victor lives in us.

When you believe the work is finished, you stop trying to finish it in your own strength.

And the fruit of righteousness begins to manifest—not because you're striving, but because you're abiding.

This is the beauty of grace:

He took what was ours (sin, death, guilt),

So we could take what was His (righteousness, life, peace).

Now, in the Spirit, we don't live from earth toward heaven. We live from heaven into the earth. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

You are not trying to get to God—you are living from union with Him.

This is the divine exchange, fully finished at the cross, now unfolding through your life by the Spirit. Jesus became sin... so that you could become like

Chapter 3: He Was Made Sin — That We Might Become Righteous

“He made Him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him.”

— 2 Corinthians 5:21

This is the great exchange—the scandal of grace, the glory of redemption. At the cross, Jesus didn’t just carry our sin. He became it. He didn’t just sympathize with the fallen state of humanity—He stepped into it, fully embracing the curse, the guilt, the shame, the judgment, the condemnation, and the death that belonged to us.

The sinless Son of God became the sin-man, not in character but in identity. He stepped into our fallen Adamic nature, fully owning it, so He could bring it to death in Himself—and raise up a new creation in its place.

The crucifixion was more than nails and blood—it was God’s surgery on humanity.

The old man was executed.

The sin nature was condemned.

The handwriting of ordinances that was against us was blotted out.

The devil was disarmed.

Death was swallowed in victory.

Christ was not dying as Himself alone—He was dying as you.

He bore our sin—not as a carrier only, but as the embodiment of our lostness.

And when He went down into the grave, He buried that sin-man. When He rose, He didn’t bring him back with Him.

You didn’t get forgiven and still stay in the same identity. You got re-created.

You are no longer the “sinner saved by grace.” You are the new man, created in Christ Jesus, righteous and truly holy. Righteousness is not something you earn or grow into—it is something you are made the moment you are placed into Him. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

God did not patch up the old you. He replaced you.

He didn’t improve the old Adam—He ended him.

When Jesus became sin, He took the entire dominion of death with Him. And when He rose, He raised up a whole new species—a new man, a new creation, a new humanity.

That’s why Paul would later write, “If anyone be in Christ, he is a new creation; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Corinthians 5:17).

This isn’t poetic exaggeration. It’s literal truth.

You are the righteousness of God in Christ. Not just righteous like God—righteous with His own righteousness.

That’s not pride. That’s position.

That’s not boasting. That’s believing.

Jesus was made to be what He was not, so that you could be made what you were not. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

And the more you see this truth—the more you will live from it.

We don’t live holy to become righteous—we live holy because we are.
We don’t struggle to earn God’s approval—we rest because we already have it.
We don’t beg for victory—we walk in it because the Victor lives in us.

When you believe the work is finished, you stop trying to finish it in your own strength.

And the fruit of righteousness begins to manifest—not because you're striving, but because you're abiding.

This is the beauty of grace:

He took what was ours (sin, death, guilt),

So we could take what was His (righteousness, life, peace).

Now, in the Spirit, we don't live from earth toward heaven. We live from heaven into the earth.

You are not trying to get to God—you are living from union with Him.

This is the divine exchange, fully finished at the cross, now unfolding through your life by the Spirit. Jesus became sin... so that you could become like

Chapter 3: He Was Made Sin — That We Might Become Righteous

"He made Him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him."

— 2 Corinthians 5:21

This is the great exchange—the scandal of grace, the glory of redemption. At the cross, Jesus didn't just carry our sin. He became it. He didn't just sympathize with the fallen state of humanity—He stepped into it, fully embracing the curse, the guilt, the shame, the judgment, the condemnation, and the death that belonged to us.

The sinless Son of God became the sin-man, not in character but in identity. He stepped into our fallen Adamic nature, fully owning it, so He could bring it to death in Himself—and raise up a new creation in its place.

The crucifixion was more than nails and blood—it was God's surgery on humanity.

The old man was executed.

The sin nature was condemned.

The handwriting of ordinances that was against us was blotted out.

The devil was disarmed.

Death was swallowed in victory.

Christ was not dying as Himself alone—He was dying as you.

He bore our sin—not as a carrier only, but as the embodiment of our lostness.

And when He went down into the grave, He buried that sin-man. When He rose, He didn't bring him back with Him.

You didn't get forgiven and still stay in the same identity. You got re-created.

You are no longer the "sinner saved by grace." You are the new man, created in Christ Jesus, righteous and truly holy. Righteousness is not something you earn or grow into—it is something you are made the moment you are placed into Him.

God did not patch up the old you. He replaced you.

He didn't improve the old Adam—He ended him.

When Jesus became sin, He took the entire dominion of death with Him. And when He rose, He raised up a whole new species—a new man, a new creation, a new humanity.

That's why Paul would later write, "If anyone be in Christ, he is a new creation; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (2 Corinthians 5:17).

This isn't poetic exaggeration. It's literal truth.

You are the righteousness of God in Christ. Not just righteous like God—righteous with His own righteousness.

That's not pride. That's position.

That's not boasting. That's believing.

Jesus was made to be what He was not, so that you could be made what you were not.

And the more you see this truth—the more you will live from it.

We don't live holy to become righteous—we live holy because we are.
We don't struggle to earn God's approval—we rest because we already have it.
We don't beg for victory—we walk in it because the Victor lives in us.

When you believe the work is finished, you stop trying to finish it in your own strength.

And the fruit of righteousness begins to manifest—not because you're striving, but because you're abiding.

This is the beauty of grace:

He took what was ours (sin, death, guilt),

So we could take what was His (righteousness, life, peace).

Now, in the Spirit, we don't live from earth toward heaven. We live from heaven into the earth. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

You are not trying to get to God—you are living from union with Him.

This is the divine exchange, fully finished at the cross, now unfolding through your life by the Spirit. Jesus became sin... so that you could become like Him.

And beloved—you are.

Chapter 4: The Cross — Where Heaven Kissed Earth

At the heart of time and eternity stands a wooden cross—simple, brutal, majestic. It was here that the greatest act of love was unveiled. Here, the Creator became the crucified. Here, eternity stepped into time, and infinite mercy kissed fallen humanity.

The cross was not just an instrument of execution—it was the cosmic altar where the Lamb was slain for the sin of the world. It was the place where justice and mercy embraced, where wrath and grace collided, and where death was swallowed by life.

Jesus didn't stumble into the cross. He was born for it. From the foundation of the world, the Lamb was already slain in the heart of God. The cross wasn't an afterthought—it was the masterplan.

This was God's will from the beginning: not merely to save us from sin, but to reconcile all things in heaven and on earth back to Himself through the blood of the cross (Colossians 1:20).

When Jesus stretched out His hands, He reached across eternity and history at once.

He reached back to gather all who had come before.

He reached forward to gather all who would come after.

He stood in the center—offering Himself as the great intercessor between God and man.

The veil was torn not from bottom to top, but from top to bottom, signifying that this was not man's work, but God's initiative. God opened the way—God restored the access—God brought man back to Himself.

And how did He do it?

By not sparing His own Son, but freely offering Him up for us all.

This is the scandal and glory of the Gospel: the Holy One took the place of the unholy; the Righteous One stood in the place of the guilty.

The nails didn't hold Him. Love did.

The cross wasn't weakness—it was power.

The cross wasn't defeat—it was triumph.

At Calvary, Jesus didn't just redeem individuals. He reconciled the cosmos. The blood of Jesus speaks a better word—not only over your sin, but over the entire brokenness of creation.

Creation groans because it knows—the blood has already paid for its redemption.

Humanity aches because deep in our spirit, we know—we were bought with a price far beyond gold or silver. We were purchased by the incorruptible blood of the Lamb.

At the cross:

The curse was broken.

The law was fulfilled.

The debt was canceled.

The devil was defeated.

And a new covenant was born—not written on tablets of stone, but etched into hearts of flesh.

No longer would man live from the outside in—trying to perform to please God. Now we live from the inside out—from Christ within us, the hope of glory.

At the cross, sin lost its voice. Shame lost its grip. Hell lost its prisoner. And death lost its sting.

The cross is not just the place where Jesus died—it is the place where we died with Him.

Paul declared, “I am crucified with Christ; nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ lives in me.”

That is not poetic language. That is our reality.

You have been crucified with Him. Buried with Him. Raised with Him. Seated with Him. And now, Christ lives in you.

This is the mystery of godliness—that God would not only come near, but live inside His redeemed ones.

We don’t just celebrate the cross—we live from it.

The cross is our past, our present, and our power. It is our boast, our anchor, and our victory.

And it is here, at the foot of this holy tree, that heaven kissed earth, and mankind met mercy face to face.

Forever changed.

Forever redeemed.

Forever loved.

Chapter 5: The Resurrection — The Unstoppable Life of Christ

If the cross was the altar of sacrifice, the resurrection was the shout of victory. Jesus didn't just die—He rose. Not as a spirit drifting in the clouds, but as the firstborn from the dead, the prototype of a new creation humanity.

He got up with all power in His hands—authority over death, hell, and the grave. The stone wasn't rolled away to let Him out—it was rolled away to let us see that He had already conquered.

Resurrection was not a reversal of death. It was the death of death.

The tomb is empty—not just as a historical event, but as an eternal testimony that life now reigns. And not just any life—His indestructible, resurrection life now flows in those who believe.

This is not merely a doctrine. It's a divine infusion of power.

You were buried with Him in death.

But you were raised with Him into newness of life.

The same Spirit that raised Christ from the dead dwells in you.

That Spirit doesn't visit occasionally—it indwells permanently.

He is the down payment of your full inheritance, the proof that you are not only forgiven—you are alive in union with the Resurrected One.

The resurrection declares that death has lost its authority, not only physically, but spiritually and emotionally.

You are not the same person you once were. You are a new creation—resurrected from the grave of shame, regret, guilt, and powerlessness.

The power of the resurrection is working now. It's not just about a future afterlife—it's about abundant life today.

This life empowers you to:

Love when hated.

Forgive when wounded.

Hope when others despair.

Rise when life tries to bury you.

The resurrection of Jesus didn't just open the tomb—it opened a new and living way into the presence of God.

The veil was torn, the way was made, and now you live in Him, and He lives in you.

That's not poetry. That's power.

Every time you speak truth in the face of lies—resurrection is at work.

Every time you love your enemies—resurrection is at work.

Every time you get back up after falling—resurrection is at work.

Jesus said, "I am the resurrection and the life." Not "I was," not "I will be."

I AM. Right now. Present tense. Resurrection is not just an event—it's a Person. And that Person lives in you.

The enemy of your soul fears this truth more than anything:

You are not weak. You are risen.

The world may try to bury you in discouragement, anxiety, sin, and fear. But you carry a life that cannot stay buried.

You may have moments of sorrow—but the resurrection says joy is coming.
You may face days of confusion—but the resurrection declares that the light of truth will shine again.

This life of Christ is not something you earn—it's something you receive.
And the more you behold the Resurrected Christ, the more His life becomes your life.

In Him you live.
In Him you move.
In Him you have your being.

This is the secret: You are not trying to live for God.
God is living through you.

So stand up.
Lift your head.
The tomb is still empty.
And the same power that brought Jesus back from the dead now breathes in you.

This is the resurrection life—unstoppable, incorruptible, and eternal.

Chapter 6: Ascension and Enthronement — Seated in Heavenly Places

The story didn't end at the empty tomb. Jesus ascended—and not quietly or in secret. He ascended publicly before witnesses, declaring not only His victory but His enthronement. The Lamb who was slain is now the King who reigns.

He didn't just rise from the dead—He rose above every name that is named. He was lifted above all principalities and powers, seated at the right hand of God, far above all rule, authority, and dominion.

But here's the mystery: You ascended with Him.

Yes, you read that right.

"God raised us up with Christ and seated us with Him in heavenly places in Christ Jesus." (Ephesians 2:6)

This isn't a metaphor or poetic imagery. This is spiritual reality.
Your spirit, your identity, your authority—are all now in Christ, and He is enthroned.

You are not climbing a ladder to heaven. You are already there in Him.
You are not trying to become royalty—you are already seated in royal authority.
You are not waiting for a throne—you've been invited to sit with the King.

This changes everything.

You don't fight for victory—you fight from victory.
You don't beg for power—you walk in power.
You don't strive to earn your place—you live from your place.

And what is that place? In Christ. Seated. Resting. Ruling.

The ascension means Jesus has returned to the Father's right hand—the position of complete authority. It also means the finished work is truly finished. He is not pacing or worrying. He is seated. And so are you.

This seat is not passive. It is governing.
This rest is not inactivity. It is kingdom rule.

You reign—not by control or manipulation—but by spiritual authority, love, intercession, and truth. You bring heaven into earth because you are already joined to heaven in Christ.

When Jesus sat down, He didn't leave us behind. He took us into Himself, and we sat down in the same victory. The cross brought you out of sin, but the throne brings you into dominion.

You are called to:

Declare what heaven says over your life and others.

Bind and loose with kingdom authority.

Walk boldly in your calling.

Live in the awareness that heaven is your true location.

Too many live like spiritual beggars when they are heirs of the throne. Too many pray like servants when they are sons and daughters seated in royal identity.

Jesus did not die and rise again so we would spend our lives crawling through shame and trying to earn forgiveness. He died and rose again to make you a co-heir, a partner, and a co-laborer in the greatest kingdom the world will ever know.
The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

The ascension was not Jesus escaping the earth—it was the coronation of the true King.

And because you are in Him, it was also your coronation.

You may not feel like it today. You may still be fighting battles, wrestling doubts, and facing storms. But your spiritual reality is secure:

You are raised.

You are seated.

You are enthroned.

You are victorious.

When you pray, you don't pray from below. You pray from above.

When you face darkness, you don't face it as a victim—you face it as light seated in Christ.

The devil is under your feet because you are in the body of Christ—and His feet are planted firmly on the neck of the enemy.

So stand up, son of God. Rise up, daughter of the King. You've been raised to reign. Let the world see what happens when a people stop striving and start living from their heavenly seat.

Jesus didn't just finish the work—He sat down in it.
And now, so do you.

Chapter 7: All Things Gathered Into Christ — God All in All

There is a climax to God's plan. A final crescendo to the melody of redemption. It's not just a personal salvation story—it is the restoration of everything. A sweeping, cosmic, divine conclusion where Christ is revealed as the sum of all things, and God is all in all.

From the beginning, God had one dream: a family of sons in His image, a creation that reflects His nature, and a universe saturated with His glory. Jesus didn't come to save a few—He came to gather all things into Himself.

"That in the dispensation of the fullness of times He might gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in heaven and which are on earth..."

— Ephesians 1:10

This is the final vision:

Every heart reconciled.

Every tear wiped away.

Every enemy subdued.

Every life restored.

And at the center of it all—Christ, the true image, the firstborn of many brothers.

When Jesus said, “It is finished,” it wasn’t just a sigh of relief from the cross. It was the trumpet blast of victory that signaled the end of separation. His blood didn’t just cleanse—it reconciled. His death didn’t just pay—it restored. His resurrection didn’t just break death’s grip—it birthed a new creation.

The finished work is not just a transaction—it is transformation. And that transformation is still unfolding. In you. In others. In the cosmos.

This is why Romans 8 says all creation groans—not for judgment, but for manifestation. The manifestation of what? Of the sons of God. Of those who look like Jesus. Because when we rise, creation breathes again.

This is more than revival—it’s a return to design. It’s a reformation of purpose, a renewal of all things.

“Then comes the end, when He delivers the kingdom to God the Father... that God may be all in all.”

— 1 Corinthians 15:24–28

This is where we’re headed:

No more death.

No more sin.

No more separation.

Just God in everything and everything in God.

He's not leaving one sheep behind.

He's not losing one piece of His creation.

Every fragment will be gathered. Every wound healed. Every lie silenced. Every tongue confessing: The Complete Finished Word Of Christ
"Jesus Christ is Lord."

This is the final picture of victory. Not a planet destroyed, but a creation restored.
Not people left behind, but people brought into glory.
Not a weak ending, but a kingdom without end.

So what does this mean for you today?

It means you are part of something unstoppable.

You are caught up in the purpose of the ages.

You are not just saved—you are being conformed into the image of the Son.

And one day soon, every eye will see, every heart will know, and every knee will bow —not in terror, but in awe and love.

Because the One who began the story... is the One who finishes it.

And when the final word is spoken, the final enemy destroyed, and the final tear wiped away, we will see what Paul saw:

God... all in all.

Chapter 8: The Spirit of Wisdom and Revelation — Awakening to the Mystery of Christ

The greatest transformation in any life begins with a single spark: revelation. Not just information. Not just doctrine. But a living, breathing encounter with the truth of Christ that changes how you see everything.

Paul prayed for the church in Ephesus—not that they would get more religion, but that the Spirit of wisdom and revelation would flood their hearts. Why? Because it is only through revelation that the mystery of Christ is unveiled.

“That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give to you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of Him...”

— Ephesians 1:17

We are not called to live on borrowed light. The age of secondhand faith is over. God is awakening a generation of sons who will see Him as He is.

What is this revelation?

It is the unveiling of the Christ within you.

It is the understanding of your union with Him.

It is the awareness that you are not striving to get to God—He lives in you.

This changes everything.

When the Spirit of revelation opens your heart, you no longer serve God from a distance. You no longer beg for His favor—you live from His fullness. You no longer try to become—you awaken to the truth: as He is, so are you in this world.

It is Christ in you—the hope of glory.

It is the mystery hidden from ages past—but now revealed.

It is the secret the prophets longed to see, but you now carry within.

Revelation gives birth to identity.

Identity gives birth to authority.

And authority releases the kingdom.

The world doesn't need more church programs—it needs a church full of sons and daughters walking in revelation. The Spirit is calling us deeper—not into performance, but into perception. To see Him rightly is to see ourselves rightly.

"We all, with unveiled face, beholding as in a mirror the glory of the Lord, are being transformed into the same image..."

— 2 Corinthians 3:18

Revelation transforms us.

We don't just go from sinner to saint—we go from glory to glory.

We don't just get saved—we get awakened to our true identity in Him.

And when we see Jesus clearly, we begin to walk in the fullness of the Son.

This is the Spirit's work in this hour: awakening the body of Christ to the mystery of our union, to the power of the indwelling Spirit, and to the reality that heaven's treasure lives within us.

You were never meant to live in the outer court. The veil has been torn. The invitation is open. The glory that once dwelled in a temple now dwells in you.

The same Spirit that raised Jesus from the dead lives in you.

The same wisdom that formed the ages is alive in you.

The same glory that Moses couldn't touch—you've inherited through the finished work.

This is your portion. Not when you die. Not in the sweet by and by. Now. Today. Christ in you.

You are the temple of the living God.

You are seated with Christ in heavenly places.

You are clothed with His righteousness, filled with His Spirit, called to display His glory.

But you'll never walk in what you don't see.

So ask Him. Ask boldly. Ask daily. Ask desperately.

"Open the eyes of my heart, Lord. Let me see the hope of Your calling, the riches of Your inheritance, and the exceeding greatness of Your power toward us who believe."

The Spirit of wisdom and revelation is falling like rain on hungry hearts. He is pulling back the veil, lifting the fog, and raising up a people who will not just talk about God—they will manifest Him.

This is your hour.

This is your call.

To know Him. To reveal Him. To become like Him.

And when the Spirit finishes His work in you, the world won't just see a believer—they'll see the glory of the Father revealed in a son.

Chapter 9: The Restoration of All Things — God's Dream Fulfilled

There is a word echoing through the ages—a promise whispered by the prophets, declared by the apostles, and confirmed in Christ Himself: the restoration of all things.

This is the heartbeat of the Father.

This is the endgame of heaven's purpose.

Not destruction. Not eternal separation. But restoration.

"Whom heaven must receive until the times of restoration of all things, which God has spoken by the mouth of all His holy prophets since the world began."

— Acts 3:21

Peter stood in the power of the Spirit and declared the ultimate intent of the Father: everything that was broken will be restored.

Everything lost will be found.
Every fallen thing will rise again.

This is not just about individuals being saved. This is about creation being liberated.
It's about the entire cosmos coming back into alignment with the will of God.

The fall affected everything—spirit, soul, body, earth, nature, even the elements groaned under the curse.
But the cross didn't just redeem man. It redeemed all creation.

"For the creation waits in eager expectation for the children of God to be revealed... in hope that the creation itself will be liberated from its bondage to decay and brought into the freedom and glory of the children of God."
— Romans 8:19–21

Let this settle deep in your spirit: God will not be satisfied until everything reflects
His glory.
And He has guaranteed that through the work of His Son, He will make all things new.

We have reduced the gospel to personal salvation.
But the full gospel is the restoration of all things. It is the transfiguration of the world, the redemption of the cosmos, the healing of every tribe, tongue, and nation.

What Adam lost, Christ more than restored.

The first Adam brought death.
The last Adam brings life—and life more abundantly.
The first Adam introduced separation.
The last Adam brings reconciliation—until all is united in Him.

"Having made known to us the mystery of His will... that in the dispensation of the fullness of times He might gather together in one all things in Christ..."
— Ephesians 1:9–10

This is not wishful thinking. This is not a side doctrine.
This is the central pulse of heaven's redemptive plan.

Jesus is not coming back to rapture a remnant and abandon a world.
He's coming back to reign in His people, through His sons, and restore all things to the Father's original intention.

He is the firstborn of many brethren.
He is the prototype of a new creation.
He is the Lord of the harvest, and the harvest is the world.

We are not waiting for God to destroy the earth—we are groaning with all creation for the manifestation of His sons, who carry the Spirit of restoration.

What does this restoration look like?

It looks like hearts healed.
It looks like nations disciplined.
It looks like injustice overturned, orphaned spirits adopted, darkness swallowed by light.

It looks like God all in all.

"Then comes the end, when He delivers the kingdom to God the Father... that God may be all in all."

— 1 Corinthians 15:24–28

This is the Father's dream.
This is the Son's mission.
This is the Spirit's work.
And this is our inheritance.

We are not spectators—we are co-laborers.
We are not waiting—we are participating.

We are not escaping—we are restoring.

When you preach the gospel of Christ, you're releasing restoration.

When you forgive, love, heal, give, serve—you're building the new creation.

And when we rise in the power of the Spirit, the world begins to see what it looks like when heaven invades earth. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

Let every religious lie fall to the ground.

Let every fear-based doctrine melt in the fire of truth.

Jesus is Lord. All shall be restored.

We stand not at the end of the world, but the beginning of a new one—a world where righteousness dwells, where grace reigns, and where God is all in all.

Chapter 10: The Lake of Fire — The Fiery Love That Transforms All Things

Throughout the ages, few symbols have been more misunderstood than the Lake of Fire. The Complete Finished Word Of Christ

To many, it is a place of hopeless torment—an eternal punishment.

To others, it's a distant judgment, removed from grace.

But to the Spirit-filled, revelation-bathed heart, the Lake of Fire is not the end of man, but the means of God's complete transformation.

"Our God is a consuming fire."

— Hebrews 12:29

He is not a natural fire.

He is not a fire of destruction for destruction's sake.

He is holy fire—refiner's fire.

A fire that consumes the chaff but preserves the gold.

A fire that does not annihilate but purifies.

This Lake is not separated from God—it is God.

The same fire that burns in His eyes is the fire that burns in the Lake.

The Book of Revelation tells us this:

“And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire.”

— Revelation 20:14

What does that mean?

It means death itself will die.

Hell will be no more.

Everything that causes separation, pain, darkness, rebellion—will be swallowed up by the burning love of God.

The Lake of Fire is not eternal torture—it is the final phase of divine restoration. It is not punishment apart from Christ—it is the presence of Christ in His fullest intensity.

It is the fire that removes every impurity until only Christ remains in all.

This is why the overcomers are baptized with fire—not to be destroyed, but to be refined into His image.

It is the fire of transformation.

It is the consuming holiness of God doing what no man can do—purging the dross until all creation reflects His nature.

This is the fire Moses saw in the burning bush—where the bush burned, but was not consumed.

This is the fire that led Israel through the wilderness by night.

This is the fire that fell at Pentecost—when tongues of flame danced upon the heads of the saints.

It is the fire of the Spirit, not to terrify, but to testify of the power of divine love.

When Jesus baptizes with the Holy Ghost and fire, He isn't sending torment—He's sending transfiguration.

He's burning up every lie.

Every sin.

Every chain.

Every false identity.

Until you see Christ in you, the hope of glory.

The Lake of Fire is not a place of final rejection—it's the furnace of final redemption.

Even the Book of Revelation agrees: after the Lake of Fire, what do we see?

"Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth... and the first heaven and the first earth passed away..."

— Revelation 21:1

The old has passed.

The new has come.

All that was false, dead, and defiled—has been consumed.

And now, God tabernacles with man, not in wrath, but in glory.

"Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men... and He shall dwell with them, and they shall be His people."

— Revelation 21:3

This is the ultimate reconciliation.

Not just a few saved, while the rest are lost.

But every eye shall see Him, every knee shall bow—not by force, but because they've beheld the beauty of the King and have been melted by the fire of His love.

The Lake of Fire is not for endless torture—it's for eternal transformation.

Yes, it is judgment—but judgment is not for rejection.
Judgment is for setting things right.

“When your judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness.”
— Isaiah 26:9

God’s fire will not fail.
His love will not end.
His mission will not fall short.

Even in His fiercest flames, He is working mercy.

He is restoring the fallen,
Refining the wicked,
Redeeming the nations.

Until God is all in all.

So let the Lake of Fire burn—not with fear, but with hope.
For what it truly represents is the last altar, the final purification, the climax of God’s redeeming grace.

It is there that death dies.
There, where sin meets its end.
There, where even the hardest hearts melt like wax before the glory of the Lord.

And from its ashes rises a new creation—a creation filled with His life, His light, and His love.

This is the full gospel.
This is the purpose of the ages.
This is the complete finished work of Christ.

And it ends not in flames of wrath...
But in the eternal flame of love.

Read Now

Leave a Reply

Logged in as ctwray. Edit your profile. Log out? Required fields are marked *

Comment *

Post Comment

© 2025 THE FINISHED WORK OF CHRIST - WordPress Theme by Kadence WP